

San Luis Obispo Area Resource Guide for Autism Spectrum Disorders

What do I do if I think my child has an ASD?

1. Make an appointment with your child's pediatrician and request a referral for a developmental assessment.
2. Get a developmental assessment from one of the following:
 - Psychologist
 - Psychiatrist
 - University Based Autism Center
 - Local Regional Center
 - Local School District
 - Public Health Nurse
3. Follow the recommendations of assessment for interventions and treatments.

Therapies That May be Utilized by Individuals with an ASD:

Applied Behavioral Analysis (ABA): Applied Behavior Analysis involves the principles of learning theory and behavioral psychology. ABA makes use of both positive and negative reinforcement and other important principles to increase behaviors, generalize learned behaviors or reduce undesirable behaviors.

Speech Therapy: Speech-language therapy is designed to coordinate the mechanics of speech with the meaning and social use of language. Such a program begins with an individual evaluation by a speech-language pathologist to assess an individual's verbal aptitudes and challenges. From this evaluation, the pathologist sets goals that may include mastering spoken language and/or learning nonverbal communication skills such as signs or gestures. In each case, the goal is to help the person communicate in more useful and functional ways.

(autismspeaks.org)

Occupational Therapy: Occupational therapy addresses a combination of cognitive, physical and motor skills. Its goals include helping a child or adult gain age-appropriate independence and participate more fully in life. For a person with autism, occupational therapy often focuses on skills for appropriate play or leisure skills, learning and self-care skills. (autismspeaks.org)

Our Mission

To strengthen quality-of-life for individuals with autism spectrum disorders, and the lives they touch, through compassion, commitment, and collaboration.

Our Vision

To become a state-of-the-art facility, centrally located in San Luis Obispo; the center will bring together and empower individuals, families, and professionals for the purpose of improving the quality of life of those affected by autism spectrum disorders.

Our Values

- Act with respect, compassion, and integrity.
- Advocate understanding of autism spectrum disorders through education.
- Empower individuals, families, and professionals by providing unbiased responsible information.
- Promote collaboration and teamwork.
- Build on strengths.
- Endorse and promote positive, non-aversive, best practice interventions and strategies.
- Nurture families throughout their journeys and recognize that autism spectrum disorders affect more than the individual diagnosed.
- Support and serve individuals with autism spectrum disorders throughout their lifetimes.
- Be accountable through ethical behavior, record keeping, and transparency in practice.
